Lenape Valley Foundation provides forensic evaluations for communities in Bucks County at our main facility:

500 N. West Street, Doylestown, PA 18901.
Call 215-345-5300 for information.

Lenape Valley Foundation has been providing forensic mental health services to the criminal justice system for over 25 years. We offer unique forensic services in Bucks County. These include evaluation of adult and juvenile offenders. Our dedicated mental health clinicians evaluate individuals to answer questions of competency to stand trial, relationship of a mental disorder to an accident or crime, even the potential for future dangerous behavior. In addition to conducting interviews and administering psychological tests, forensic history is gathered, including hospital records, police reports, and witness statements. Most importantly, recommendations for comprehensive mental health treatment, remediation of competency, and other relevant legal questions are addressed. In addition to providing forensic evaluations, LVF clinicians have the unique ability to connect individuals involved in the criminal justice system to a multitude of community treatment programs provided by Lenape Valley Foundation and other providers.
